

Historian Report

From

June 15th 2009 thru October 26 2009

By: Ashton Winnik

Types of activities

■ Service projects

- ◆ a volunteer project done by the troop to better a community, clean up a campsite or just to be nice.

■ Camping/Hiking

- ◆ going somewhere to stay the night. Our troop does cabin camping and tent camping most of the time.
- ◆ Hiking is walking at a steady pace for a while.

Service Projects

- Cub scout day camp
- IWL --Cub run stream cleanup
- Join scouting cub scout help
- Lake Fairfax with pack 1858
- Mason Neck water cleanup

Cub scout day camp

- Our troop Ran the stations at day-camp such as the archery stations and fishing stations.

Izaak Walton league Stream cleanup

- A few scouts cleaned up cub run stream by picking up trash around the banks.

Join Scouting cub scout help

- A few scouts helped the cub scouts with a Questionnaire and talk to the webloes with picking a troop.

Lake Fairfax with pack 1858

- Five scouts from our troop helped with a campfire at lake Fairfax with a cub scout pack.

Mason Neck water cleanup

- Some of the scouts went to Mason Neck regional park to clean up the shoreline so the shoreline would be clean.

Camping/Hiking

- Philmont on trail camping
- Olmstead summer camp
- Seabase SCUBA program
- Lake Fairfax with pack 1858
- Backpacking trip on the C&O canal

Philmont on trail camping

- Philmont was a fun activity where some scouts backpacked to camps run by staff to do activities.
- The mountain was ten thousand feet tall

Olmstead summer camp

- Olmsted was a very well run camp. It was confusing for me to find my way around the camp. Obaid caught a large catfish while we were there.

Seabase SCUBA program

- A few of our scouts and leaders went to a scuba certification class. They scubed in a tank and then scubed in a reef. They also saw many sea creatures like sharks and barracudas.

Lake Fairfax with pack 1858

- Three scouts from our troop Stayed the night at lake Fairfax with a cub scout pack

Backpacking trip on the C&O canal

- A few scouts went to the C&O canal on a 17 mile backpacking trip. I had an allergy the whole time.

Other

- Mock Emergency
- Scout a rama

Mock Emergency

- The wolves patrol did a mock emergency where we were supposed to act injured (Josh did a good job) for an emergency response training exercise

Scout o rama

- Ran stations where the cub scouts learned about blisters and rope bridges and pinewood derby and a mock emergency

October COH 2009

- This court of honor we had nine rank advancements
- One hundred fifty merit badges and
- Twenty six special awards
- Also the food was good

The End

This is a summary of what has happened between this COH and last COH.